

Please take a minute to pray for Gabriel House and Ensenada.

We are having a hurricane on Baja as I write this. I hope the electricity stays on long enough for me to finish.

I have spent the entire night praying, "Peace be still" in the name of Jesus. When the winds surge it is deafening and rattles the windows; you can feel the block walls of our little house shaking.

We are in pretty good shape because our buildings are sound but some of our neighbors have lost their roofs and some of our workers have lost their humble abodes of card board and rubble. I have invited them to Gabriel house with their families for their safety, but if their shacks blow down, neighbors loot their belonging during lulls in the storm so they usually will not come.

This is the third night that we have had gale-force winds that are throwing garbage everywhere, tearing off roofs and knocking down people who get caught out of doors when the winds come up. We are supposed to have another onslaught tonight and tomorrow night. Please pray for us and ask others you know to pray. This is a perilous time for the weak, the very old, and the very young.
